Post-game Interview Process:

Post-game interview and dressing room policies for the Pac-12 Tournament are similar to those utilized in the NCAA Tournament. After each game, all dressing rooms shall be open to the media after a cooling-off period not to exceed 10 minutes for the winning team and 15 minutes for the non-winning team. The cooling-off period begins when the coach enters the dressing room immediately following the game. The coach must proceed directly to the dressing room after the game unless requested to remain on the floor for a short interview by the organization that has purchased rights to televise the game. After the cooling-off period, the dressing room will be opened to all representatives of the media with proper credentials. Coaches shall not make themselves available to selected media representatives (such as a reporter for the institution's radio network or a coach's show) prior to the conclusion of the cooling-off period. Should a coach permit one media agency to enter the dressing room before the cooling-off period has expired, the dressing room shall be opened to all other media representatives desiring access to the area. Once opened, the dressing rooms shall remain open for a minimum of 20 minutes. This format will flip for the Championship game as the winning team will participate in the post-game trophy presentation.

Post-game Press Conference:

The head coach and two or three selected players will attend the post-game press conference. The head coach and players from the winning team will appear first, following the 10-minute cooling-off period. The head coach and players from the non-winning team will follow after their team's 15-minute cooling-off period. This format will flip for the Championship game as the winning team will participate in the post-game trophy presentation.

Wireless Capabilities/Phone Lines:

Wireless internet access will be available in the T-Mobile Arena and in the media work room. Should you need to request your own hardwire/T1/phone line at your seat location and/or in the media room, contact Vik Bodalia at T-Mobile Arena (vbodalia@tmobilearena.com or 702-692-1430). As a reminder, each team's radio network rights holder will be provided with a pair of ethernet connections and an analog line.

Originating Radio Stations:

Four radio broadcast locations have been set up on the bench side of the court. Three seats will be provided to each team's radio rights holder for broadcast purposes, along with a pair of hardwire ethernet connections and an analog line. Originating radio networks will not need to order phone lines. Each radio position will be equipped with a stat monitor that will provide real time game statistics, as well as an audio feed from the Press Conference room for post-game media interviews. Radio positions may be moved on a game-by-game basis depending on team bench location. Student radio stations approved for credentials will need to arrange for their own phone lines. Phone line troubleshooting: 702-692-1430.

Live Radio Shows:

Radio networks that are planning to broadcast daily shows from Toshiba Plaza will need to make arrangements for securing a site outside of the arena and phone lines with Derrick Gomez of 3-Point Productions (derrick@3ptproductions.com, 719-661-7023).

Media Services:

- Postseason releases for each participating team will be available in the T-Mobile Arena media work room.

PAC-12 TOURNAMENT STRUCTURE-SEEDING AND TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

Seeding: The seedings and pairings shall be determined upon completion of regular season play on Saturday, March 5. The won-lost percentage record of the teams in regular season Conference play will determine tournament seedings. The team with the best won-lost percentage in Conference play will be seeded #1, the next best won-lost percentage in Conference play will be seeded #2, and so forth through all the seeds.

Tie-Breakers: Procedures for determining all tournament seeding will be:

Two-team tie

- Results of head-to-head competition during the regular season.
- Each team's record (won-lost percentage) vs. the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings, and then continuing down through the standings until one team gains an advantage.

When arriving at another group of tied teams while comparing records, use each team's record (won-lost percentage) against the collective tied teams as a group (prior to that group's own tie-breaking procedure), rather than the performance against individual tied teams.

- Won-lost percentage against all Division I opponents.
- Coin toss conducted by the Commissioner or designee.

Multiple-team tie

- Results (won-lost percentage) of collective head-to-head competition during the regular season among the tied teams.
- If more than two teams are still tied, each of the tied team's record (won-lost percentage) vs. the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings, and then continuing down through the standings, eliminating tied teams with inferior records until one team gains an advantage.

When arriving at another group of tied teams while comparing records, use each team's record (won-lost percentage) against the collective tied teams as a group (prior to that group's own tie-breaking procedure), rather than the performance against individual tied teams.

After one team has an advantage and is seeded, all remaining teams in the multiple-team tie-breaker will repeat the multiple-team tie-breaking procedure.

When the multiple-team tie is reduced to two teams, the two-team tie-breaking procedures will be applied.

- Winning percentage against all Division I opponents.
- Coin toss conducted by the Commissioner or designee.

Pac-12 Hall of Honor to Induct 2018-19 Class

The Pac-12 Conference will honor 10 former student-athletes and three former coaches with their induction into the Pac-12 Hall of Honor on Friday, March 15 during a ceremony prior to the semifinals of the 2019 Pac-12 Men's Basketball Tournament presented by New York Life. The inductees will also be recognized on court during Friday night's semifinal session.

The 2019 Hall of Honor class will be the 18th since its creation in 2002, and the second to feature legendary figures from an array of sports after the Pac-12 last season expanded the field to be inclusive of the broad-based athletics success across the Conference of Champions. Among the many combined accolades of this year's inductee class includes: 14 Olympic medals, nine bowl victories, eight members named to a Pac-12 All-Century Team, seven All-Americans, five Olympic athletes, five NCAA team or individual national championships as collegians, four Super Bowl victories, two members of the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame, two members of the College Football Hall of Fame, two members of their country's Olympic Hall of Fame, one member of the Naismith Hall of Fame and one back-to-back World Series winner.

Meg Ritchie-Stone, Arizona (1979-83) - Few student-athletes at any institution have accomplished in their careers what Meg Ritchie-Stone has as an Arizona Wildcat. From singlehandedly dominating the Arizona track and field record books to competing at the highest levels internationally to becoming a pioneer in collegiate athletics, Meg Ritchie-Stone has earned honors and recognitions in just about every way possible. The four-year letter winner and All-American in the shot put and discus was the 1980 AIAW champion in both, the 1981 AIAW champion in shot put and runner-up in discus, the 1981 indoor shot put champion, the 1982 NCAA champion in shot put and discus and the 1983 NCAA champion in the indoor shot put. A member of the University of Arizona Sports Hall of Fame, following her collegiate career became the first female strength coach to head both men's and women's strength programs at a major American university.

Frank Kush, Arizona State (1955-79) - Arizona State football's all-time winningest coach, the late Frank Kush led the Sun Devils to 176 wins over parts of 22 seasons. Inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1995, Kush began his Arizona State career in 1955, serving as an assistant under former head coach Dan Devine before being promoted to head coach three seasons later. Kush led the program to seven Western Athletic Conference Championships and guided the Sun Devils to winning seasons in 19 of his 22 years, also amassing the most postseason victories in ASU football history. His 1975 team finished second in the national rankings as he was named the National Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association and the Walter Camp Foundation. Aside from producing winning teams, Kush helped guide 38 student-athletes to All-America honors and 128 into the National Football League, including 10 first-round draft picks and 17 pro-bowlers. After his coaching career ended in 1979, he went back to ASU 21 years later and served as a special assistant to the athletics director and then as an ambassador for Sun Devil Athletics. A recipient of many honors including the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Lott Impact Trophy, Kush also served the Arizona community in many entities.

Natalie Coughlin, California (2001-04) - One of the all-time greats in Cal history, Natalie Coughlin starred for the Golden Bears from 2001-04 with her records in the pool earning her the Pac-12 Women's Swimmer of the Century honor in 2016. The 11-time NCAA individual champion was a three-time NCAA Swimmer of the Year and Pac-10 Swimmer of the Year from 2001-03 and a four-time team MVP, going undefeated in dual meets during her career with a 61-0 record in individual races. By the time she graduated, Coughlin held school records in nine races before going on to compete in three Olympics (2004, 2008, 2012) and earning 12 medals, a total unsurpassed by any woman in U.S. Olympic history. Among her numerous awards including the 2002 USA Swimming Athlete of the Year, the 2002 Swimming World Female World Swimmer of the Year and the 2003 Women's Sports Foundation Sportswoman of the Year.

Lisa Van Goor, Colorado (1981-85) - The first and only player in Colorado history to score 2,000 points and grab 1,000 rebounds in a career, men's or women's, Lisa Van Goor finished her collegiate career nearly averaging a double-double (18.0 points and 9.8 rebounds). The Buffs' first true star in women's basketball and one of the first in all women's sports, Van Goor helped build the foundation for a program that would perennially become one of the nation's best. She helped lead CU into the Big Eight Conference in the early 1980's as the AIAW was absorbed by the NCAA, paving the way for major conferences to sponsor championships in women's basketball. A finalist for the NCAA Player of the Year Award in each of her last three seasons, she earned All-Big Eight honors in the inaugural 1983 season. A three-time U.S. National Team Member (1981-83), she exited CU as its all-time leader in scoring, rebounds and blocked shots and was inducted into the University of Colorado Athletic Hall of Fame in 1999, just the second class to be enshrined and the first female athlete to be honored. Since then, she has remained active with her alma mater with Buffs4Life, an organization of CU letter winners who provide a support system to former CU athletes in need.

Bev Smith, Oregon (1978-82) - One of the greatest players in Oregon women's basketball history, Bev Smith helped lead the Ducks to a 93-19 record over her four seasons, including two AIAW tournament trips and one NCAA tournament appearance. A member of the University of Oregon's inaugural Athletic Hall of Fame class in 1992, she established school records for points scored in a single game (38), season (632) and career (2,063) rebounds in one game (26), season (376) and career (1,362); career assists (443); as well as steals in a single game (11), season (95) and career (349) and still holds several school records. Following her legendary collegiate career she continued to play internationally as a member of the Canadian national team for 10 years, highlighted by a fourth-place finish at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles. After playing professionally in Italy for 15 years she returned to take over as the head coach in Eugene in 2001 with the Ducks winning a WNIT title in her first of eight seasons coaching her alma mater.

Dick Fosbury, Oregon State (1965-69) - During his time at Oregon State, Fosbury, an OSU civil engineering graduate, revolutionized the intercollegiate sport of high jumping with the "Fosbury Flop." The signature move replaced the traditional approach with his midair rotation consisting of a curved running approach, landing on his lower neck and shoulders, which led to another innovation, the introduction of padded landing mats to replace the traditional sand landing pit. The former All-American and NCAA champion earned a gold medal for the U.S. during the 1968 Olympic games in Mexico City. Fosbury is a member of several halls of fame, including the Oregon State University Athletics Hall of Fame, the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame, the U.S. Olympic Hall of Fame, the U.S. Track & Field Hall of Fame and the World Humanitarian Hall of Fame. Following a 40-year engineering career, Fosbury has been involved in numerous charitable organizations as well as in leadership roles with the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Association, the Idaho Chapter of Olympians, the World Olympians Association (past president) and Idaho's Simplot Games. Honored nearly 50 years to the date of his famous Mexico City Fosbury Flop, Oregon State unveiled a bronze sculpture on the site of the school's former track and field stadium.

Dick Gould, Stanford (1967-2004) - The winningest coach in NCAA men's tennis history, legendary Stanford head coach Dick Gould guided the Cardinal to 17 NCAA championships in his 38 seasons. After playing collegiately for Stanford he took over as head coach of the men's program from 1967-2004, and continued to work in the athletic department until his official retirement on Jan. 15, 2018 as the John L. Hinds Director of Tennis, wrapping up a Stanford career that spanned 57 years. Over his 38 seasons as head coach, he led Stanford to a 776-148 overall record, produced 50 All-Americans, 10 NCAA singles champions and seven NCAA doubles titlists. Over a four-year stretch from 1995-98, Stanford won four straight NCAA crowns, going 28-0 in 1998 while losing only three dual-match points the entire season. For a 34-year period, every four-year letter winner earned at least one NCAA championship ring. An innovator both on and off the court, Gould spearheaded fundraising efforts, including one of the first personal seat license programs and raised funds to create endowments that went towards building the Taube Family Tennis Stadium, coaching and assistant coaching positions, athletics scholarships, operations and facility maintenance and repair. Gould was also the visionary for events such as indoor tennis in Maples Pavilion and the first combined men's and women's NCAA Tennis Championships, hosted at Taube Family Tennis Stadium in 2006.

Ann Meyers Drysdale, UCLA (1974-78) - Considered the pioneer of collegiate women's basketball, Ann Meyers Drysdale was the first female athlete ever to earn a four-year scholarship to UCLA, finishing her collegiate career as the first four-time All-American in her sport. She is also the only woman to sign a contract with an NBA team, the Indiana Pacers (1979). In her senior season at UCLA (1978), she led the Bruins to an AIAW National Championship, won the Broderick Award as the women's basketball player of the year and went on to win the prestigious Broderick Cup as the Collegiate Female Athlete of the Year in any sport. For almost two decades, Meyers Drysdale held the school record for assists in a game (15), was the school leader in career assists (544) until the marks were broken in 1999 and is still the Bruins' all-time leader in steals (403). As an Olympian, Meyers Drysdale won a silver medal for the U.S. in 1976 and has since been inducted into the Naismith, FIBA and Women's Basketball Halls of Fame. In 1988, her first year of eligibility, she was the first woman inducted into UCLA's Hall of Fame, and two years later, she had her uniform number (No. 15) retired. Following her playing career, for nearly 30 years, she served as a network television sports analyst for ESPN, CBS, FOX Sports and NBC. She was once the president and general manager for the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury, and she currently serves as the vice president for the NBA's Phoenix Suns and Phoenix Mercury. She is also a color analyst for the Phoenix Suns television broadcasts.

Ronnie Lott, USC (1977-81) - One of the greatest safeties in USC and NFL football history, Ronnie Lott was known for his ferocious hits and heady, aggressive play. At USC, he was a 1980 All-American and team captain and a four-year letterman (1977-78-79-80), playing on Troy's 1978 national championship team as well as three bowl-winning teams (including two Rose Bowls). The eighth overall selection in the 1981 NFL Draft, Lott starred for 15 years (1981-95) in the NFL with the San Francisco 49ers, Los Angeles Raiders, New York Jets and Kansas City Chiefs, playing on four winning Super Bowl teams with the 49ers and in 10 Pro Bowls. An eight-time All-Pro, he led the NFL in interceptions twice, recording 63 interceptions total in his professional career. Lott was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2000 and the College Football Hall of Fame in 2002, as well as the USC Athletic Hall of Fame in 1995. He was named the Defensive Player of the Century on the Pac-12 All-Century Team in 2015 and was selected by the Pro Football Hall of Fame voters to the NFL's All-Time Team in 2000 and to the Super Bowl 50 Golden Team in 2016. After his football days, Lott became a venture capitalist, a television football analyst, an automobile dealership owner and a restaurateur. The Lott IMPACT Trophy, which is given to the college football defensive player who exhibits the traits of integrity, maturity, performance, academics, community and tenacity, is named in his honor.

Steve Smith Sr., Utah (1999-2000) - One of the most electrifying athletes to ever play at Utah, wide receiver Steve Smith Sr. continued to amaze during a 16-year career in the National Football League, making five Pro Bowl appearances. After earning All-CIF honors at University High School in Los Angeles and becoming an All-American at Santa Monica Junior College, Smith joined the Utes in 1999. In his first season, he earned all-league honors as both a wide receiver and punt returner, leading the team with 860 receiving yards and eight touchdown catches and eclipsing the Utah single-season record with 495 punt return yards and three TDs. That year he ranked first in the Mountain West Conference with 140.5 all-purpose yards per game. As a senior, Smith earned All-MWC honors for a second time, rolling up over 1,100 all-purpose yards with a team-high 743 in receiving and 365 more in punt returns. Smith left Utah as the program's all-time leader by averaging 20.55 yards per catch. After being selected in the third round of the 2001 NFL Draft by the Carolina Panthers, he spent the next 13 seasons with the Panthers before ending his career with three years in Baltimore. In 2003, he played a critical role in leading Carolina to the Super Bowl. Two years later, he led the NFL in receptions, receiving yards and TD catches. A three-time first or second team All-Pro selection, Smith is the 14th player in NFL history to amass 1,000 career receptions. He ranks eighth in league history with 14,731 receiving yards.

Patricia "Trish" Bostrom, Washington (1969-72) - One of the first standout players in Washington's tennis program, Trish Bostrom was also an early pioneer in women's sports. While at Washington, she established herself as one of the region's best, winning the Pac-8 singles title in 1972, the AIAW national women's collegiate mixed doubles title and earning a spot on the Junior Wightman Cup team. Following her collegiate career, Bostrom would rank as high as No. 5 in the world rankings in doubles in 1975 and No. 37 in singles in 1977. She was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1987, the Pacific Northwest Tennis Hall of Fame and the Washington State Sports Hall of Fame. Bostrom was an instrumental advocate for gender equity in collegiate sports before the implementation of Title IX in 1975, growing up playing tennis and earning a spot on the boys' team at Chief Sealth High School in Seattle. However, a ruling by the Metro League denied her a chance to compete. When she enrolled at UW in 1969, she dominated play on the women's side and witnessed the huge discrepancies between the women's tennis program and the men's program and wanted a chance to play against the highest level of competition. In 1972, Bostrom, with the help of attorney Don Cohan, met with UW administrators and requested equal opportunities for women at Washington to compete in sports and—while that was being implemented—to be afforded a chance to try out for the men's team. Weeks later she earned a chance to try out for the men's team and despite losing the match, she continued to fight for equal rights at the University with her actions opening the administration's eyes to the discrepancies in the programs. After her professional tennis career she earned her law degree and has served as president of the UW Alumni Association as well as on many UW boards. She continues to lecture on Title IX rights and opportunities.

John Olerud, Washington State (1987-89) - During his three seasons in a Cougar uniform, John Olerud had one of the finest careers of any Cougar student-athlete, in any sport, in Washington State history, rewriting the WSU record books and becoming the only Cougar baseball athlete ever to be named College Athlete of the Year. In 1988, Olerud became the only player in NCAA history to win 15 games on the mound and hit 20 home runs in the same season, going 15-0 with 23 home runs that year. Still holding numerous WSU records, Olerud went 26-4 overall with a 3.17 ERA over 241.1 innings during his three seasons, hitting .434 for Washington State. He set two Pac-10 records and 10 Pac-10 North marks, highlighted by his sophomore season when he was named Athlete of the Year by Baseball America. In January prior to his junior year at WSU, Olerud suffered a subarachnoid hemorrhage, a type of brain seizure. He missed the first 28 games of the spring season, but returned to hit .359 for WSU over the final 27 games. Prior to his senior season, Olerud signed a contract with Toronto and went directly to the Major Leagues. In 1993, he became the first Blue Jay to win a batting title, hitting .363. Olerud played for Toronto, the New York Mets and Yankees, Seattle and Boston during his 17-year career, winning back-to-back world series titles with Toronto in 1992 and 1993. In 2001 he joined his father, John Sr., in the WSU Athletics Hall of Fame, and is a member of the College Baseball, State of Washington and Inland Northwest Sports Halls of Fame. The John Olerud Two-Way Player of the Year Award, given annually by the College Baseball Hall of Fame, was named in his honor and in 2016, he was named the Pac-12 Conference Player of the Century, selected by a 36-member blue ribbon panel of experts selected by the conference.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Stanford got a measure of revenge en route to winning another Pac-12 Tournament title.

Dijonai Carrington scored 22 points, and the seventh-ranked Cardinal (28-4) erased some unpleasant recent history against No. 6 Oregon, beating the Ducks (29-4) 64-57 on Sunday night.

For the Cardinal, it was their 13th championship of the 18 Pac-12 tournaments. Stanford lost to Oregon last season in the title game, and the Cardinal also were routed by 40 points a month ago by the Ducks - the worst defeat in Hall of Fame coach Tara VanDerveer's career.

"I think that was something that we had in our minds ever since we lost that game," said Stanford's Alanna Smith, who earned Most Outstanding Player honors for the tournament. "When you take a loss like that, you have no choice but to learn from it. We were happy we got to play Oregon today. We wanted another chance at them."

With the game tied at 51, Carrington made a layup, then stole the ball and drove the length of the court for another lay-in. After Ruthy Hebard made a free throw to get Oregon within 55-52, Kiana Williams hit a 3-pointer from the wing to give the Cardinal their biggest lead of the fourth quarter to that point.

Sabrina Ionescu, who led Oregon with 27 points and 12 rebounds, ended a four-minute field goal drought with a jumper with 1:14 left. She was the only Oregon player to hit a basket for the Ducks in the final eight minutes.

Stanford made all six of its free throws in the final minute to seal the victory. As the final seconds ticked off, the Cardinal players ran to half-court to celebrate.

"The competition we played day in and day out prepared us for today's game," VanDerveer said. "We won with our defense. We came in as the top-ranked defensive team in the Pac-12 and people locked in defensively."

Smith added 20 points and 14 rebounds for the Cardinal.

VanDerveer said after Stanford beat Washington in the semifinals on Saturday night that her team didn't play well offensively against the Ducks in the meeting last month and that they would "battle and play their game" this time.

PAC-12 TOURNAMENT HONORS

PAC-12 HALL OF HONOR

The Pac-12 Conference established the Pac-12 Hall of Honor in 2002. From 2002-17, the Pac-12 celebrated its men's basketball legends by inducting an annual class of standout coaches and student-athletes into the Pac-12 Hall of Honor. Starting in 2018, the Hall of Honor pivoted to feature legendary figures from an array of sports to be inclusive of the broad-based athletics success celebrated in the Conference of Champions.

PAC-12 IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

The Pac-12 Conference has won 16 NCAA basketball titles, second-most of any conference behind only the ACC (17) . . . Oregon's Tall Firs won the first NCAA Championship in 1939. Stanford claimed the national title in 1942, followed by Utah in 1944 and California in 1959 . . . UCLA established a basketball dynasty that included 10 titles in 12 seasons and a winning streak of seven consecutive NCAA crowns . . . In 1997, Arizona became the sixth different Pac-12 institution to capture the NCAA basketball title.

PAC-12 IN THE NIT & CBI TOURNAMENTS

The Pac-12 has had considerable success in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT), as five current members have captured the NIT crown - Colorado (1940), Utah (1947), UCLA (1985), Stanford (1991, 2012, 2015) and California (1999). Colorado also finished second in 1938, as did Utah in 1974 and 2018. Meanwhile third-place finishes were turned in by Oregon in 1975 and 2004, Colorado in 1991 and 2011, Utah in 1992, Washington in 2012 and Washington State in 2011. The league now stands at 107-89 (.546) in America's original postseason tourney. The records of all Pac-12 members in the NIT:
